

Andrew Proctor

andrew.proctor@phdstudent.hhs.se

Professorsslingan 10, lgh 1339
114 17 Stockholm, Sweden
+46(0)761863005

Personal Information:

Gender: Male

Data of Birth: Nov. 3, 1987

Citizenship: American

Undergraduate Studies:

Bachelor of Arts in History (Magna Cum Laude), Furman University, 2010.

General course in Economic History, London School of Economics, 2009.

Graduate Studies:

Stockholm School of Economics, 2016 to present

Ph.D. Candidate in Economics

Expected Completion Date: May 2021

Duke University, August 2019 to present

Visiting PhD student in Economics (sponsor Peter Arcidiacono)

Swedish Institute for Social Research at Stockholm University, Jan. 2019 to present

Visiting PhD student in Economics

Universiteit van Amsterdam, 2015 to 2016

Master of Science in Econometrics

Thesis Title: Intergenerational Effects of Stratified Educational Financing in Tiebout School Choice, 1922-2015 (grade of distinction)

Research Fields:

Labor economics, applied and structural microeconometrics.

Teaching Experience:

Spring 2019	Data Analysis in R (Masters course), Stockholm School of Economics, Lecturer.
Fall 2018	Empirical Economics, Stockholm School of Economics, Seminar Teacher for Erik Lindqvist.
Spring 2018	Data Analysis in R Short Course, Stockholm School of Economics, Lecturer.
Fall 2017	Empirical Economics, Stockholm School of Economics, Seminar Teacher for Per Hjerstrand.

Research Experience and Related Employment:

Fall 2018	Stockholm School of Economics, research assistant to Prof. Anna Dreber Almenberg and Erik Snowberg.
Summer 2009	London School of Economics, Research assistant to Dr. Eric Golson.
2011-2012	City of Billings (MT) Community Development Division.

Supported the Mayor's Committee on Homelessness through the federal AmeriCorps program. Primary duties included data analysis and research, management of public awareness campaigns, and facilitation of related community groups.

Fellowships and Grants:

2019-2020	Jan Wallander and Tom Hedelius Foundation Grant for doctoral research abroad (500,000 Swedish kronor).
2020-2021	Institute for Evaluation of Labor Market and Education Policy (IFAU), Uppsala University (196,100 Swedish kronor), with Erik Lindqvist

Research Papers (published and in-progress)

Crowdsourcing Hypothesis Tests: Making transparent how design choices shape research results (with Landy et al, forthcoming in Psychological Bulletin)

Did the apple fall far from the tree? Dynamics of educational and labor market inequality when households are uncertain about childrens' ability

Careers of the Extremely Intelligent (with Erik Lindqvist and Jonas Vlachos)

Modified Klein-Spady: A semiparametric estimator of binary choice (with Per Hjerstrand)

Bundling Frictions in Tiebout School Choice (with Atahan Afsar and Joakim Semb)